

1 | Chicago Manual of Style

:CUSTOM<sub>ID</sub>: chicago-manual-of-style

- Uses footnotes to cite.
  - Cmd+option+F on drive
- All notes
  - Author, Title, Publisher, Date, Page — first time
  - Author last name, shorten title, page — every other time
- ibid
  - That which came before
  - Chicago manual updated rules and got rid of it
- plato.stanford.edu is better version of wiki, citable
  - Wikipedia is BAD
- No comma between title and publisher
- Only whole books are italicized, individual piece in quotes
  - Volume refers to year/number of times its been published
  - Number is number within year
- Access note for online article
  - Entire url must be in it
- Trans. stands for translated

The Chicago Manual of Style, 17th Edition