- Types form an algebraic semi-group.

    - We have elements
    - We have operators
    - We have an identity: 1*a = a and a*1 =a and (a*b)c = a(b*c)

- Types are equivalent if you can convert between them without losing information.